7	orientations - bi lingual (tech, home life, how school works, most important school events)	LC #1: Altimira 1/10/19
8	provide translation and advertise that it is available at BTSN, Open house, etc	LC #2: Comm Center 1/14/19
9	translate all relevant info for multi-lingual families	LC #4: SVHS 1/29/19
10	"big brother/big sister" orientation, pairing between experienced and new parents	LC #4: SVHS 1/29/19
11	Buddie Families for secondary level where separation and needs grow exponentially	LC #1: Altimira 1/10/19
12	Create safety nets surrogate mentor groups to support students whose parents can't attend. Find ways to identify those families.	LC #3: B&G 1/24/19
13	ask parents to come pick up	LC #1: Altimira 1/10/19
14	global awareness of programs	LC #4: SVHS 1/29/19
15	family involvement has to be a 2-way street, a partnership where parents know they are being heard and they can see and feel change	LC #2: Comm Center 1/14/19
15	At the high school level, it seems there are many families who are unclear about A-G requirements and difference between CP, Honors, and AP classes. I believe there are many students who are not taking classes that are not rigorous, but have not been advised to challenge themselves.	Survey Monkey
16	Lack of familiarity with school's programs due to no communication, forms, etc	LC #1: Altimira 1/10/19
17	list of schools programs, timely info provided	LC #1: Altimira 1/10/19
18	Work with the SVHS Parent Connection group; many parents are eager to get involved and help! Our group can coordinate and publicize opportunities, as can Boosters I'm sure. In the past there were few opportunities and they were not publicized (e.g., homework club, TSN). For years I felt "at arm's length" and unwelcome. I worked hard to discover volunteer opportunities helping students. I think this is changing now.	Survey Monkey
19	define and clarify acronyms in communication	LC #2: Comm Center 1/14/19
20	Create a consistent system for parents at all levels to receive info at all school levels	LC #3: B&G 1/24/19
21	Need a highly trained communication director who will build communication	Staff Dev. Day: 1/31/19
22	It is hard to get parent involvement, nevertheless, it's important to bombard parents with phone calls and emails to let them know about what is going on. Perhaps having teachers communicate with parents will allow for a stronger relationship between students, parents, and the school.	Survey Monkey
23	We need to keep in mind that many of our students do not have resources at home, from internet service to parental support. Information going home needs to be physical and be translated as well.	Survey Monkey
24	communicate statistics around success that results from parent involvement and attendance, tech usage	LC #4: SVHS 1/29/19
25	Educate the parent on what needs to be done	Survey Monkey
26	I think parents are not willing to be involved because it might take too much time. But if it is made clear that if all parents are involved they won't have to volunteer as much. Parents need to be reassured that by being involved in their students education they can help them.	Survey Monkey
27	I would love it if all my students had the parental support that my top achieving students have. Communication, examples, stressing the importance of a good education is essential. I'm not sure how to convince parents the importance of this.	Survey Monkey
28	messaging around a shared educational experience	LC #4: SVHS 1/29/19

84	Programs change too frequently for parents to easily keep up	Staff Dev. Day: 1/31/19
85	Elementary does a great job of getting parents involved, however, Hispanic participation lacks relative to the whole. This gap only increases as the kids move up to middle school and even further in high school. This can't be a unique problem and likely other districts have tried and stumbled on a solution (we need to open up our minds to solutions)	Survey Monkey
86	For Latino families, we need to redouble efforts to get them engaged and involved. Everything needs to be mobile friendly, events may need childcare.	Survey Monkey

132	PTO/ELAC, collaborate advertise the same event	LC #2: Comm Center 1/14/19
133	I'm not sure how to get more families involved in their students education. Parents already have so much on their plate that it may be difficult to encourage them to do more. All parents should care about their children's education but I don't believe it is something we can reasonably control.	Survey Monkey
134	The school district already provides a lot of support through it's bus and free lunch systems so the rest is really up to student motivation.	Survey Monkey
135	We cannot change people and society. We can present forums, support groups, workshops, etc. but you can lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink. Not all families believe education is important. Not all families have the time to do much but survive and work. It is not the school district's job to parent the parents but to TEACH the STUDENTS.	Survey Monkey
136	have office open 2-3 days before school starts	LC #1: Altimira 1/10/19

217	Flowery does a great job of making families and students feel included and engaged, in my impression. Their events are culturally inclusive of both Spanish and English speaking families. They always offer translation at their events, showing that both Spanish speaking and English speaking families are welcome. Alternatively, at Back to School night at Adele Harrison earlier this school year, translation in the classrooms wasn't easy to come by. I saw Spanish speaking parents who were reluctant to speak out and ask for translation in front of the whole group of parents just stay back and not understand the classroom presentations. Number	What can we do to get more families involved in every students' education? What should we do to make sure every student and family is engaged in the educational journey?	Source
626	There can be more open houses, but to really be involved in their child's education, I think conferences would be nice. It would allow the parents/guardians to see where their child is at, and they can develop methods to help them. Teachers can request some help they can receive, or they can just explain how their student is doing well in class.	Survey Monkey
627	have collective emails sent to parents	Survey Monkey
628	Families of the student already are notified of their student's behavior and grades from school, though they should be more inclined to have conferences and meetings with administrators or teachers to talk about their education. To get students and families interested in the journey, they should feel as though the journey has an impact on their lives. They need to be aware of their ability to go off and accomplish bigger things in the world, and want to push themselves forward.	Survey Monkey
629	You should prepare students and their families for their future because then they'll be clueless about how to do taxes and stuff like that. Instead of teaching the students irrelevant information.	Survey Monkey
630	Send out flyers, have social events.	Survey Monkey
631	Have a school meeting	Survey Monkey

634	When having meetings specifically for parents, include a short program that will highlight their children, like a talent or art show. I've been saying this for years and have notice some schools doing this. More, please.	Survey Monkey
635	Having more parent nights, open houses	Survey Monkey
636	Start (or continue) discussion groups around topics of interest to parents	Survey Monkey
637	PTO meetings are too early for one. A lot of us work out of town and cannot make the meetings in the evening. Host fun events. They don't have to be expensive, just engaging. How about family volunteer opportunities. Maybe the kids can earn extra credit.	Survey Monkey
638	Require so many hours a year in volunteer hours	Survey Monkey
639	We could hold regular meetings at La Luz (with childcare provided)	Survey Monkey
640	Have district wide policies and procedures for communication. Work to ensure they are followed. Do away with Peachjar. Casual gatherings with food and childcare and interactions with district staff. Time for teachers to meet with and contact families in person and by phone. Train subs. Seek quality subs.	Survey Monkey
641	Site based parenting classes like parent university	Survey Monkey
642	Teachers who are friendly	Survey Monkey
643	Holding parenting classes either at schools or within the community and educating families as to the importance of being involved in their child's education. Schools need to maintain their own websites and provide pictures along with blurbs as to what is happening on campus and in classrooms. We need to offer many forms of communication to be sure all families are receiving information. More school community events.	Survey Monkey
644	The only thing I have found that gets parents to participate is food and some kind of "show" like a talent show or event that showcases their child. Parent involvement is extremely difficult.	Survey Monkey
645	That's a tough one. Parents are busy and stressed. They want and wish school can just take care of things but everyone knows that's too much to ask. Unfortunately there is a huge imbalance of parents being involved with their own children both academically and emotionally either from own upbringing and education and differing circumstances. That would almost require retrofitting entire society of public education and getting everyone on board to map put who's responsibility is what.	Survey Monkey

650	In order to do that, we would need to address the problem of poverty and a lack of education. We can provide a safe place for students and welcome parents.	Survey Monkey
651	More parenting classes. Mandatory in some cases. We need to offer English instruction for parents again and we need to address parental illiteracy in any language.	Survey Monkey
652	Find different ways that parents can be involved and communicate it to them	Survey Monkey
653	We should have fun, special dinners and activities at a small cost to the families where the students and their parents can talk to the teachers informally. Perhaps if they know that they are part of a community and are important to this community, the parents will be more engaged.	Survey Monkey
654	We need to make parents feel welcome to school. Some parents may have a negative experience in the past. Every person at school needs to make parents feel welcome. Schools need to have events where parents are invited to watch their children in an academic environment.	Survey Monkey
655	Make learning fun, promote and support activities which families can participate in. Look at the role of the community in education. Do kids need basic needs like food and how are societal issues impacting their learning.	Survey Monkey

659	Maybe hold more family events/parent nights, etc. So that they may be involved. I feel it can be hard to accommodate everyone's schedule, so there might need to be some flexibility in timing of events. Number	What can we do to get more families involved in every students' education? What should we do to make sure every student and family is engaged in the educational journey?	Source
668	Families need to be informed as to how to support their children upon entering our schools. They should be taught to read, comprehend, take seriously and take appropriate steps regarding report cards and Powerschool grades. Parents need to encourage reading. Kids should be doing chores and not getting anything they want. Screen time should be avoided. Math facts should be practiced as a family. Perhaps we should have a task force of dedicated professionals who regularly meet with groups or individual families. In the past we've had outside consultants work with teachers. These resources would be better spent supporting parents.	Survey Monkey
669	Invite parent volunteers into classroom time more often.	Survey Monkey
670	Set this kind of involvement as a norm but urging/supporting all schools to create engagement avenues for their students' families.	Survey Monkey
671	Use of contests or food...we need parents more involved in reading to children at home at all levels.	Survey Monkey
672	Regular communication, community/family classes that offer help with technology, etc. Be unified as far as benchmarks, curriculum, academic expectations, etc. district wide	Survey Monkey
673	Unfortunately, there is no one right answer here. Parents are disengaged for a number of reasons. Some lack the education to be able to help their children with school work, some don't trust the school system and some are too busy. Until the district finds a path of consistency in staffing (thus relationship building) and support for students at all achievement levels, I don't think you will see more parent buy in.	Survey Monkey
674	We can have more family nights and fun students activities were parents could get involved.	Survey Monkey
675	We, as a district do so much, the best I have seen (of 6). Other than parenting classes, I don't know.	Survey Monkey
676	El Verano seems to be doing a good job with engaging their community. I was under the impression their after school program for adults and families was a pilot program and would be incorporated into the other schools.	Survey Monkey
677	For better or for worse, the internet has become a necessary part of education. Some families do not have or do not use internet in the home. This makes it more difficult for teachers to contact them. Students are expected to be digitally fluent yet, in my experience, challenges arise when attempting to communicate with and contact families.	Survey Monkey
678	If we can get more students involved in their own learning, then they will involve their families. We could host more family nights, however, it might just be the same great families that attend. Some families do not value the educational journey, so it becomes a challenge.	Survey Monkey
679	Communication. The Advisory class format gives each teacher a small number of students for which she or he is the primary contact. The teacher is the primary one in charge of being aware of all going on with those students and communicating anything of importance to other teachers, staff and families. Teams of teachers meet at scheduled times to talk about kids only!	Survey Monkey
680	I think the student-led conference week are a good start. This year I met with more latino parents that late Thursday than ever before. Not sure why, but they are more in tune. Perhaps Schooloop?	Survey Monkey
681	Choose textbooks that are better written than the crap from common core	Survey Monkey
682	I would like a mechanism in place for meeting with parents in their neighborhoods. I think it may help to put something in place to make home visits a normal occurrence. I would like a number of community meetings scheduled throughout the school year, including things like math and literacy nights.	Survey Monkey
683	Give families a multiple different resources and opportunities to engage.	Survey Monkey
684	High student engagement will hopefully engage the parental support. If the child is excited about something, they will talk about it at home and peek the parent's interest and support.	Survey Monkey

686	This is such an ongoing issue.....parents are for the most part just trying to make ends meet, and think of school as free day care. Having student led conferencing helps at our site, since the students are putting together the material they are doing and have a plan to help them succeed in areas where they need help, and show parents where they are excelling for positive feedback. Perhaps instead of having only fund raising parent participation events, have family fun nights (movies, games, etc.) where the entire family can participate.	Survey Monkey
687	Have them sign into (we have schoolloop this year but perhaps powerschool) to see grades and be able to communicate easily with teachers and staff.	Survey Monkey
688	This is a difficult one because it is hard to speak for every family situation. There are so many reasons why a parent would not be involved. However, some of the basics--office staff very welcoming and bilingual at every school site, a bilingual person in the office for the entire day, consider having the whole community support a life skills month around town and give them a way to recognize students in their neighborhood, offer more free community events at the school sites, communicate in every way possible to catch everyone, respect parent skills and funds of knowledge and bring that into schools.	Survey Monkey
689	We can hold more community nights, and parent education on our campus' to get people here. Also, making sure that we offer childcare, provide food and make sure these meetings are offered in both Spanish and English.	Survey Monkey
690	I feel like Altimira and most teachers do an excellent job. For example: Power School, Conferences, Phone calls, emails, etc.	Survey Monkey

693	Raffle on math science nights/explain that school is just as important as sports (more important) flyer hine that says free pizza for home work done for 30 days?? Educate parents re- jobs later in life vs fullfilling career. It's advertising can work for Gatorade than advertising should work for something as important as education.	Survey Monkey

695	Reach out to more of the bilingual families and make them feel accepted at svhs.	Survey Monkey
696	Stop emailing asking for money	Survey Monkey
697	Continue to send the message that families are valued and welcome at our schools. We need a warm, friendly, helpful front office staff at every school. We need to develop and grow access points for parents to feel a part of their child's education.	Survey Monkey
698	Have educational sessions, have food, and child care. In elementary families are very involved, but in middle school and high school they are not, but families have a lot of questions. I feel that if you have educational nights where parents can come and get information or the how to dos for things students are struggling with it will help.	Survey Monkey
699	SVUSD should make events and meetings that will actually interest parents.	Survey Monkey
700	Send notices about school events home with the kids in English and Spanish. Ask students to bring the notice back to school the next day with a box checked that parents will or will not attend. Committing to an RSVP with your signature enforces your cooperation.	Survey Monkey
701	We should have more family nights where families can come see their student's progress through out the year and make it part of the student's grade or extra credit (with exceptions of course). I believe we do this for freshmen because I remember doing it my freshmen year and I thought it was fun and engaging.	Survey Monkey
