127	I would grade our school system as a FAILURE currently in ensuring students achieve academic success!!!! The district is not collaborative or transparent and student achievement is horrendous. I couldn't think of a worse picture of the district that many of us have to send our children too. Students should be getting a diverse education that prepares them for an ever changing workforce. Creativity, emotional intelligence, physical well-being, mindfulness, study skills, life skills, and tolerance should be basic components of an education within SVUSD.	Survey Monkey

202	Pay attention to all pieces of the pie: social/friends, academic, social emotional self-worth mental health, family past experience.	LC #3: B&G 1/24/19
203	Academic success is that each child has achieved his potential. Academic success means that each child actually enjoys school and at least one subject and feels understood by at least one teacher. Our graduates should have the ability to function as adults in the world, make good decisions and chose a path that is appropriate for his level of ability. Encouraging all types of learners is the best model. From artists to athletes to scientist to mechanics. There needs to be a lot of diverse paths. Students need to be challenged but not discouraged. Supported but not coddled. Our district often tries to encourage students to take on too much before they are ready and not have any resources or classes for students who are bored or of higher intellect.	Survey Monkey
204	Academic success is that the student has actually learned the material (not learned how to take a test). If the student feels they have learned, that is academic success. Students should feel confident when they graduate that they are ready for the next phase in their life. That they are prepared to do whatever it is they have decided to do.	Survey Monkey
205	Academic success is when a student show interest or participation in academic events. Once graduates graduate they should be able to go out into the world and seek out a career of something that interest them.	Survey Monkey

290	It's going to vary. We can't loose site in this wide variation but must be open to all possibilities, at every level. Our graduates, through our leadership & relationship, will find their identity. Using our Tools (Vision) & Techniques (hard work/time), the goal of them graduating "prepared & hitting the ground running" will be a result of their defined experiences (resources) and us, as a group.	Survey Monkey
291	They should know what it takes to excel in whatever they do. Be prepared to achieve as much as they choose to. Let students know Failure is part of learning	Survey Monkey
292	Being able to read and do simple math . Let's not socially promote kids anymore. It's pathetic this has happened in our district. This can't happen ever again	Survey Monkey
293	Academic success would be students being able to work to their highest potential and having the materials needed to reach their potential. Graduates need to be able to think critically, work as a team, as well as knowing their potential and striving to reach it.	Survey Monkey

295	be ready to explore the next step in their future with either higher education, or other	Survey Monkey
296	End intra-district transfer unless the transfer-in school offers a unique program (Flowery).	Survey Monkey
297	They should be proficient in so many different areas. Reading, writing, math, and some sort of electives. They should be confident to know they have so many options, college, trades, military, police. I would define academic success by students reading and achieving grade level or beyond skills. Students being able to believe in themselves.	Survey Monkey
298	Meeting students where there are not where we want them to be or where we think they can never go.....Completely understanding their academic and careers based options, understanding the steps they will need to take pre and post graduation to achieve their goals, and real support..really utilize time in classes like advisory to become successful not as a study hall.	Survey Monkey
299	Depends upon the student and his/her goals	Survey Monkey
300	A graduate of SVUSD should be able to apply the knowledge gained through school to any path. The student should be able to read and making meaning from the text, analyze, criticize, synthesize, interpret and discuss their thoughts on what they read. It can be anything from a blog to a newspaper article, but have the ability to gain meaning from it and think critically about it. They should be able to understand mathematics and it's application to the real world and life. Everything from money management to measurement to algebra. They should be civic minded... Understanding history and politics from more than one point of view. They should understand aspects of science and its role in life. They should also have the opportunity to experience vocational learning. At graduation, having the choice to pursue whatever path fits you, whether it is college or a career.	Survey Monkey
301	Assuming High School graduation, they need to feel comfortable conversing with a wide variety of people, the ability to work in a design team, the ability to write a grammatically correct research or opinion paper which cites and synthesizes sources. They need to have grit... the tenacity not to quit and to aim high. They need to have a vision for the good they can bring to the world. They must not be afraid of math or science or reading, but look at these all as opportunities to grow in knowledge through the practice of them.	Survey Monkey
302	To be able to adapt to their surroundings and are able to socialize with all types of people. A lot of students are lacking the skill of communication and typical manors of society. They don't know how to communicate or advocate for themselves. This will help those that may not be college bound.	Survey Monkey
303	Students should be literate and well-rounded and empathetic.	Survey Monkey
304	College and Career ready. Looking at how we can support ALL students. Engineering pathways, Ag Pathways are great, but we need more of these to help student's explore their interest in a safe way before having to commit in college.	Survey Monkey
305	Well rounded education with emphasis on academic rigor and social/emotional needs. Graduates should be well-prepared to continue on in a community college, four year college/university, or training program emphasizing interests and talents (ie. electrician; plumber; construction; beautician; etc.)	Survey Monkey

359	Graduates should be able to understand basic math, science, and English skills.	Survey Monkey
360	Academic success would be having a minimum of 2 B's and everything else A's. Graduates should be ready to take on life any way they can.	Survey Monkey
361	To be ready for either a vocational or college education	Survey Monkey
362	The way I define academic success for students is, a student should not just be intelligent, but they should be mature and responsible.They should be able to do everything with only a bit of help from an adult.	Survey Monkey
363	Academic success is that they have the ability to go on to college or get a job and feel ready to be alone in the world and feel that they can be successful by doing something.	Survey Monkey
364	Any kid that wants to purse college should leave the high school ready to do so. Unfortunately, many kids tracked away from opportunity.	Survey Monkey
365	Each graduate should have the tools be able learn independently.	Survey Monkey
366	Our graduates NEED to be either ready to attend college OR attend a trade school. Teach our students about trade schools. Help them like you do kids applying for college. If they don't choose either of those that's ok. The trades are not valued - they NEED to be! Lisa Conner does a great job at the high school guiding our kids through the college process, but who is there for the kids who aren't going to college?	Survey Monkey
367	Get a job. Go to a university. Read well, understand politics, calculate. It's different depending on whether or not students are headed for blue collar or white collar jobs.	Survey Monkey
368	They should be ready to go to high school, after high school, collage then getting a good we'll pay job!	Survey Monkey
369	Not everyone is college bound. For those who are, teach them strong study skills and time management that is truly needed. For those not going to college, what is your trade? Create classes where each track will learn the language and math skills needed to succeed. Kids also need to learn communication skills, money skills, how to count change, balance checkbooks,how to save, buy a car, rent or by a house,etc.	Survey Monkey

372	To understand what it means to think critically in different fields and be able to do so at a commensurate level.	Survey Monkey
373	graduates should be prepared to attend a four year college...the academic success is pretty good, but many students don't do anything except work after college rather than attending the JC, which should be advertised more openly	Survey Monkey
374	Prepared for next whether it is college, vocation education, or the workforce.	Survey Monkey
375	Academic success is different for every student and what they want to do after high school is entirely up to them. Some students may want to go to college, or go straight to working jobs, or even skip both of those all together.	Survey Monkey
376	That students are ready for the world and know how to be responsible for themselves and learn to acknowledge their mistakes and take the blame. Also how to fix those mistakes	Survey Monkey
377	Helping students build skills/tools to develop a sense of advocacy, confidence, and enthusiasm for their future...and smaller classroom sizes would help ;)	Survey Monkey
378	Foundation to build on, some hands on skills mixed with academics, so college is always an option but job placement as well in living wage jobs or jobs with upward mobility/industries that need workforce but that don't push them into the working poor class	Survey Monkey
379	Literacy, ready to work or go to college. More living skills.	Survey Monkey
380	Literate, math-literate. Understand concepts like risk, randomness, and basic statistical measures. Understand our government system. Understand our local ecological system: water, wildlife, viticulture, soil, food, climate, ecological history. They should be informed consumers, employees, and voters.	Survey Monkey
381	They should be ready to get a job!! We push too much higher education. It's ok to be a plumber!	Survey Monkey
382	ALL students should be grade level appropriate at reading, writing and math	Survey Monkey
383	They should be ready to be happy. That is individual. Going to college should not be the goal of school. College is only right for some students that have very specific goals. It is the same old song. More school more studying. Just look around and see where that gets most people. Need to get outside the box.	Survey Monkey
384	To me it is that they are well rounded. They have options other than college if that's what they want to do. They need more life skills not just book smarts.	Survey Monkey
385	Students should be able to communicate verbally, express their thoughts in writing, demonstrate critical thinking skills, and enter the world as socially conscious, responsible and respectful adults.	Survey Monkey
386	Students have the skills to pursue any career path they choose (college or technical)	Survey Monkey
387	Our graduates should be independent, motivated, lifelong learners.	Survey Monkey

415	The graduates should be ready to save up money going to college or anything else that has to do with education should probably wait until you know to handle paying bills.	Survey Monkey
416	They should be prepared to go to college and to face the world.	Survey Monkey
417	Being able to feel prepared and they should be able to feel ready to move on	Survey Monkey
418	Getting scholarships is an academic success because you get to go to college for free. Our graduates should be ready for what is coming after high school.	Survey Monkey
419	they should be ready to find a job and live a good life	Survey Monkey
420	they should be ready for college and want to go to college	Survey Monkey
421	I have heard some people talking about some counselors not being motivating enough and actually kind of telling some students they should consider other colleges because they most-likely won't make it. That is a big problem, but again not sure if it true 100%.	Survey Monkey
422	Graduates should be ready to go to college.	Survey Monkey
423	The academic success of a student should be graduating with a good mindset, and that they have a plan afterwards.	Survey Monkey
424	Write a good essay	Survey Monkey
425	I feel that most students now days at least in Sonoma high are thinking of successes as getting a good grade rather than learning. Obviously good grades are important but, learning the content and sustaining the knowledge should be just as important.	Survey Monkey

445	I would define academic success to be having good grades. They should be ready to open up a new chapter in their life.	Survey Monkey
446	How I would personally define academic success for every single student in the district is a learning tool, and also along with a guidance to get people through life and even into a good college. Our graduates should be able to do the main and also important things in their schoolwork to hopefully get accepted to a good, or even just their dream college and also university. They should also know logical lifestyle strategies and also tools for when they eventually become adults, and when they also have to be living on their own as well. Kindness, along with acceptance is also extremely important in everyday life.	Survey Monkey
447	Help more with the careers and bring in students who don't really have a clue about what they want to be when they're older	Survey Monkey
448	In my opinion, graduates should be ready to move on to college, a vocational school, a job, or whatever or wherever their proceeding plans may lead them.	Survey Monkey
449	They should be ready to live life, obviously prepare them to be able to go to college and get a job but also teach us about taxes. "How do they work? What even are they?" Those are my questions, not examples of things people might ask. These are important things that need to be taught.	Survey Monkey

622	Students should be ready to make important decisions and should be able to understand the full extent of the consequences	Survey Monkey
623	As a high school student, I believe more career targeted courses and opportunities should be provided. Graduates should also be prepared for the real world and be taught relevant life skills. As a student, I am outraged that zero courses are provided to assist students succeed as adults and Living Skills at SVHS does not suffice. In my educational journey, I have learned how to solve exponential equations but don't know how to pay bills or taxes.	Survey Monkey
624	Academic success means preparing each student for taking the next step. Preparing elementary students to thrive in middle school, providing middle scholars the tools to excell in high school, and allowing high school graduates to pursue college or job or national or community service as able, knowledgeable, socially and academically capable as any other graduate. Or better.	Survey Monkey

629	Mental health and self-care should be taught in schools. Many say that the school is always preaching about mental health, yet they have us having loads of homework and on unhealthy sleep schedules. I think that having monthly A+'s where you do something other than homework will let graduates know that they are important, and they need to take care of themselves first. Other than that, graduates should be ready to become a vital part of society. They need to be ambitious.	Survey Monkey
630	They should be able to confidently live their lives and feel confident that they will and can be successful	Survey Monkey
631	Yes	Survey Monkey
632	Academic success should not only be measured in grades, but more importantly how well they learned in class and how well they remember it. They should be able to explore more opportunities through their learning because of it. Graduates, in honesty, don't really need any additional change to prove their graduation readiness.	Survey Monkey
633	They should be thought how to live the rest of there life's like how to get a good job and how to do adult stuff like taxes.	Survey Monkey

637	We should focus on STEM. We need to interest students in math and science before 3rd grade. Reading should still be very important, but we should keep in mind that while many students learn to love reading later in life, rarely have students learned to love science and math later. Graduates should be ready to apply to colleges, get scholarships and start their own businesses.	Survey Monkey
638	Become problem solvers, creative and hopeful.	Survey Monkey

640	Be college or career ready	Survey Monkey
641	They should be ready to attend a four year college. Do they need to, no, but they should be ready. The academics in our district are lacking and something needs to change. As stated above, too much homework and kids are not prepared in the classroom to complete it. This especially applies to math. We need to get rid of common core and go back to a simpler math program.	Survey Monkey
642	Complete overhaul. Sonoma county schools don't prepare students for anything except being busboys and housecleaners	Survey Monkey
643	Students should be able to read and write proficiently, they should be able to distinguish between fact and opinion, they should be able to present in front of others, to collaborate well with others, to complete work individually, to manage conflicts, to work through problems, and to find information efficiently.	Survey Monkey
644	Reading at or above grade level. Understanding and application of science and math skills needed to enter college. Writing proficiently.	Survey Monkey

648	Academic success means that my personal children are able to get jobs, work with others, think on their own,it is not just about good grades. It is about a person developing into an educated thinking person who contributes to society in a way that helps others.	Survey Monkey
649	Academic success means that kids are able to read, write in grammatically correct and articulate ways, and be able to do math. Career-preparation courses are also a priority.	Survey Monkey
650	It's going to be different for every student. Tests can only measure so much. They can only measure that those that test well might do well on tests. Thy should be productive well adjusted kind curious adults that can support themselves and families. Teach children to love to learn and help them to figure out what they are good at to find jobs they might enjoy. There's not enough focus on skilled work in the trades.	Survey Monkey

663	reading and writing at grade level. Students should know how to read, write, and think when they graduate.	Survey Monkey
664	Academic success in this district should involve greater levels of student engagement and motivation to make our world a better place. Our graduates should be ready to take on the world and be independent young people who feel confident in their abilities and have a sense of direction wether it is college, trade school, or whatever they decide. 667	Academic success is being able to figure solutions out, not rote memorization. Academic success is learning confidence, knowing how to find solutions	Survey Monkey
668	Our graduates will be ready to actively pursue whichever path they choose, College, CTE or work. More emphasis by 8th grade in writing educational plans for 9th through 12th, even if things change along the way; including a career goal #1 and #2, etc. Students need to have practiced "soft skills" more thoroughly before graduation.	Survey Monkey
669	High GPA combined with being excited about what they learn and wanting to know more. Students who graduate should be college ready or have a trade they are interested in and an idea on how to pursue it.	Survey Monkey
670	Graduates should have college information set up or the next step whether college or working or tech school.	Survey Monkey
671	Each student will have different definitions of success. Students should be ready to either go to college/trade school or have some skills training that will help them be successful.	Survey Monkey
672	Be college or career ready.	Survey Monkey
673	Academic success is being able to make sound decisions. It should mean being able to get through the first year of college without feeling unprepared. I've heard this from parents regarding our district and it has a lot to do with grade inflation. Our graduates should be ready to go through the difficult mental process of finding work and holding down a job.	Survey Monkey
674	Budget, taxes, write a resume, and relax in healthy ways.	Survey Monkey
675	Working to the best of their individual abilities with various levels of support. Graduates having a clear path after HS, whether it be trade school or college.	Survey Monkey
676	Academic success for students in our district would be recognized when our graduates can read, write, compute math at high school levels; along with the ability to think critically about the adult world they are entering.	Survey Monkey
677	Academic success is a well rounded student who is exposed to not only rigorous academics, but the Arts, Music, engineering, garden, community outreach, and at the high school level more vocational/life skill training. Graduates should be ready to face the world as a well rounded human being whether or not college is in their future.	Survey Monkey
678	Graduates should be able to solve problems through self-motivated research and they should be able to collaborate well with their peers.	Survey Monkey

Number	How would you define academic success for students in the district? What should our graduates be ready to do when they graduate?	Source
679	Academic success means readers, writers, speakers, thinkers, and do-ers. They need to do all those by the time they graduate plus problem solve.	Survey Monkey
680	They would be able to communicate and collaborate with other adults. They would feel a strong sense of self confidence both academically and socially.	Survey Monkey
681	Success is more than getting good grades in school. While that is a part of the academic process, those students who achieve it should be able to write clearly, and in an academic matter, and have the problem solving skills to overcome obstacles large and small when they leave high school.	Survey Monkey
682	Academic success means students earn at least a B. Academic understanding comes with a C grade. Students should come to school and participate in all classroom activities. When our students graduate they need to be critical thinkers so they can be successful in their chosen field, whether it's being able to go into a trade or going to university.	Survey Monkey
683	Academic success in this district is defined by having the means to do what they want after graduation whether that be college, trades or anything else, but regardless have the critical thinking, reading, writing skills they will need to be an active part of society.	Survey Monkey
684	They should be able to interact with new material. That means, when they are exposed to it, they should know how to use strategies that we've given them to understand the content. Then use it accordingly.	Survey Monkey
685	Self motivation: They need to be ready to start their own business. Dead-end jobs like working at Walmart are not a future worth living.	Survey Monkey
686	Students should be prepared to enter junior college, or college/university, if that's what they want.	Survey Monkey
687	Academic success is young people being able to negotiate life on life's terms. Our graduates should be ready to face a world that is about to be turned upside down.	Survey Monkey
688	Smaller class sizes	Survey Monkey
689	I think that having so many different levels in one classroom is too difficult on the teachers and students. It is almost impossible to teach math to students when their gap is from 1st grade to 9th grade all at the same time, with 30+ students. Classes should be geared towards the level of the students so they can be met where they are and feel successful. Higher achieving students should be pushed beyond (and are not)!	Survey Monkey
690	Not every student gets an A; not every student goes to college. But every student needs to feel that they are given the opportunity to succeed to the best of their abilities. When a student leaves the high school you want them to have the confidence to go out into the world and make some sort or kind of difference. Success isn't making a lot of money, it's making a difference in the world.	Survey Monkey
691	We give students what they need to thrive after they leave high school. For some this does not mean College. If we spend so much time pushing for all to go to college, what useful skills do the student who do not go have? Does this set up for a feeling of failure if they don't go to college?	Survey Monkey
692	Can they read/write/communicate at grade level? Can they research to find answers from legitimate sites when they want to find the answers to questions? Can they self-reflect, hear other people's opinions, be polite and respectful while voicing opinions that may be different from those to whom they are talking.	Survey Monkey
693	They should have choices--college, career, jr college, university, trade school, gap year, travel... They should know their options and feel like they have some direction.	Survey Monkey
694	Academic success for students in our district means that all students are working at grade level (with the exception of newcomers or some special ed. students). It also means that all students are progressing each year. Our graduates should be prepared for the world of work after they graduate (whether that means college, a trade school or job). They need to have the soft skills needed (adaptability, problem solving, conflict resolution, etc.) as well as the hard skills.	Survey Monkey
695	I would want students to continue learning and have a good work ethic. Our graduates should love to learn and love to work hard to achieve success.	Survey Monkey
696	The kids who want to go to college should be ready for college level classes. The kids who want to go to trade school should have some ability to investigate those avenues, with whatever precursor skills they would need for trades.	Survey Monkey
697	Nah	Survey Monkey
698	either, go to collage and the two year approach should not be disregarded, or get a job.	Survey Monkey
699	I would Define the academic success for students in this District as being meant only for the few. All graduates should be able to be College or career ready. If a student is going to be an electrician or a hairstylist one still needs to be able to write clearly speak properly and use communication at an East Coast 12th grade level. In this District many many students when they graduate cannot read write and communicate at true 12th grade level. I meet very few students here that are at the correct reading or math level for their age group. A well-funded Career Technical education program would do very well in this District to get students to a 12th grade level in Reading writing and thinking with communication and problem-solving in mind. 704	Our graduates need the confidence, positive self-image and academic readiness to meet their next challenges. Readiness is dependent on each student's plan or map of where they see themselves going next whether it be college, a trade, vocational training, a "gap year" for travel, et c.	Survey Monkey
705	Write, students should know how to write good essays, be able to communicate with counselors and advocate for themselves. My godson almost didn't make it at Chico State because his writing wasn't strong enough. He had taken all of his classes graduated with high scores, and yet college was a huge struggle when it came to writing. Also, we should have a mini course in communication, graduates need to know how to advocate for themselves in a job, interview, or simply a class they need to take or professor or boss they need to speak to.	Survey Monkey
706	Very poor and low. Teachers are doing such a poor job. Students are not prepared for adulthood, because of this sad school district.	Survey Monkey
707	They should be ready to attend college or get a job. It's a mistake to assume all students are college bound and force them to study subjects that they are mentally unable to grasp. For students who can't master the standard course work, the old style vocational training programs worked very well. The school can't provide everything a young adult needs, but the basics should be taught. History of our country is important. I have seen reports where students don't know when the Civil War was fought and think it was in the 1960's. They need to have a good command of the English language. They need some practical items in their math classes, e.g. how to balance a checkbook and what happens if you can't pay your credit card bill. Parents don't always teach these basic skills.	Survey Monkey
708	Academic success is feeling ready to pursue almost any major with confidence. However, it is also important to ensure students are leaving high school with a basic understanding of living in the "real-world" such as learning about taxes, job interviews, etc...This should be a requirement for all students before they graduate.
